Iris kaempferi in Japanese garden
HE FOLLOWING PLANT LIST is made up of stock ready for sale this year, and I can vouch for the genuine worth of every plant offered. I intend never to include a perennial that for some reason is undesirable or even mediocre. I send out strong field-grown plants as I find these give far more satisfactory results than pot-grown, especially if planted when dormant in early spring and fall.

Read Before Ordering

FORWARDING. Unless otherwise instructed, all plants will be forwarded by express, purchaser paying charges. If customers wish plants sent by Parcel Post, add 10 per cent to value of order for postage.

REMITTANCES. Should be made by Post Office or Express Money Order, Registered Letter or Check, to Twin Larches Nursery.

GUARANTEE. Every effort is made to send out the plants true to name, but if, through error on our part, any plant should prove untrue, we will replace it free of charge. We do not, however, in any way guarantee the success of the grower purchasing stock offered in this list, as failures may be due to causes beyond our control, such as unfavorable weather or soil conditions, or too deep or too shallow planting, etc.

THE HARDY GARDEN

THESE days, everyone has become aware that a garden filled with old-fashioned hardy flowers gives most lasting delight. The charm of the quietly beautiful gardens of Colonial days has the same special appeal as the old prints and lovely furniture of an earlier age.

To discover sturdy leaves and buds pushing up through the ground each year just as surely as spring itself comes, to know that although neglected, your plants will not die, but continue to make their annual appearance, cheerfully blooming their best, brings satisfaction and content; for in its wonderful permanence lies the hardy garden's greatest appeal.

BLOOMS FROM SPRING TO FALL

With a little planning ahead, one may garner a wealth of bloom day by day from early spring until the ground is frozen in the fall. Early spring is ushered in with fragrant, low-growing Phlox subulata, tiny Iris pumila and Lily-of-the-Valley. Iris Florentina and Purple King give place to Pyrethrum (pink Daisies), lovely Irises, and Peonies. June brings lavender Foxgloves (Digitalis), the blue Delphinium and Baptisia and Yellow Day Lilies (Hemerocallis) with the pinks and reds of Dianthus. The mainstay of the garden in July and August is the Phlox with its many shades of pink and lavender; and Orange Milkweed, clear white Shasta Daisies, and graceful violet-blue Veronica, add to the array. Then comes autumn, with Helianthemum and Chrysanthemums last of all, with all shades of yellow, pink, and bronze.

Rock Plantings

Everybody has succumbed to the charm of rock-gardening, and there is great elation and excitement over the discovery of any charming new plant suitable for growing among the stones. We have made a special feature of rock plants in our collection of perennials and are prepared to recommend and provide suitable and distinctively lovely varieties for various purposes in the rock garden. We can recommend the sparkling Dianthus family for sunny, dry places. Campanulas in delightful variety for sun and partial shade, Primulas for cool, damp spots, and hosts of most interesting and charming little plants of shrubby, trailing, or matted habit to adapt themselves to all kinds of soils, exposures, and temperatures in the rockery.

The collections offered are carefully chosen and, we are sure, will give much satisfaction.
